

What does it take to become a Dive Industry Leader?

The Pro Dive Traineeship

Pro Dive Brisbane has been offering traineeship programs for over 20yrs and throughout that time our graduates have received the highest quality training and exposure to the operational side of one of the most successful dive businesses in the country.

With the knowledge and experience gained through their traineeship most have gone on to work either domestically or in one of many locations around the world, some have even opened their own businesses in the Dive Industry.

So what does it take?

Candidates are selected on a few key attributes, you will first and foremost need to be passionate about diving. You need a desire to share your passion for diving with others and you must be able to apply a professional approach to your training and preparation, the rest we will provide for you.

What do we provide?

As the only SSI Diamond Instructor training facility in the country we provide all our trainees with the best career development training available. We have a dedicated full time instructional team with decades of diving and instructional experience to mentor you through your program. All of our Leadership training options are designed to be flexible enough to take you from whatever level of diver you are now to whatever level you want to be.

Pro Dive's traineeship programs will get you out of the 9 to 5 rut.

It's a lifestyle your friends will surely envy.
